EXPANSION IN THE BUILDING IN GENERAL

Basic Industries Show a Steady Renewal of Activity in the Report by Dun's

THE TREND TOWARD BETTER CONDITIONS

Strikes and Other Impediments Have Some Influence in Prevention of Movement

(Associated Press) NEW YORK, April 21.—Dun's tomorrow will say: Not without accompanying irregularities, yet with unmistakable clearness the trend toward better business continues. Uniformity of progress is prevented by strikes and other impediments; but the unevenness of conditions is not surprising as no other result was to be expected during the period of commercial revival.

Gains that have occurred in recent months, if not extending in equal measure to all lines of enterprise, have been such as to give encouragement and instances are growing more common where reports from various sections carry a note of optimism.

Basic industries with few conspicuous exceptions disclose a steady renewal of activity and the countrywide expansion of building operations, evidenced by a special survey of the situation made by Dun's review is a highly significant development.

A wholesome and gratifying feature is the fact that improvement in business has been a gradual process, although in certain phases in iron and steel, because of coal strike influences, have suggested possibilities of temporary reaction. Generally, however, buying is still confined within prudent limits and prices are kept under control by conservative interests, recognizing the importance of maintaining stable conditions and a solid foundation for subsequent recovery.

CONSTITUTION DRAWN BY FATHERS WAS RIGHT

(Associated Press) SHERMAN, Texas, April 21.—The constitution of the United States was best in the form which the fathers wrote it with reference to the selection of a president and vice-president, by electors and elections of United States senators by legislators, Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president of the United States, said in the third of his good citizenship lectures at Austin college here.

"The fathers never intended that this republic should be a pure democracy, but a representative one," said Mr. Marshall. "The longer I consider the old constitution, the more I am convinced that the worst thing has been done by amending it," he declared.

CHICAGO WOMAN MURDERED BY TWO

The men under arrest are Russell Mosby, negro, and Thomas Roach, a former soldier.

Husband of Carnegie Heiress $2,000 a Year College Instructor.

Roswell Miller, who married Margaret Carnegie, daughter of the late Andrew Carnegie and heiress to the steel master's millions, is aiming to satisfy a long-cherished ambition by working as an instructor in engineering at New York University for approximately $2,000 a year. In deciding to follow the science he chose when a boy, Mr. Miller, now 27 years old, turned down offers which promised him high places both in the world of industry and finance. During the war he served first in the ambulance corps and later as an engineer in the navy. He earned a degree in civil engineering at Princeton.

FEDERAL POWER EXTENDING FAST

Clarence Ousley Directs Attention to the Heavy Hand Laid Upon Texas

HASKELL, Texas, April 21.—"On this anniversary of San Jacinto let us renew our vows of devotion to constitutional government, to the reserved rights of the States and the people against usurpation and encroachment by central power," said Clarence Ousley, candidate for U. S. Senator, in an address here this afternoon.

"While Texas has many grievances against the tyranny of Mexico they may be summed up in the broad principle of the right of the State to order its own affairs. While Texas now has no such bill of complaints against the Washington government, we should realize that we are drifting rapidly into complex relations with the Federal government which seriously impair our freedom of action in State and local affairs.

We have lost the power of control of State railway rates and many of our products are rotting in the fields because they are taxed more than the traffic will bear. We must re-establish the principle that railroads must share the hazards of production and commerce; we must not deny them reasonable returns in normal times but we must not allow them in times of depression to earn profits by rates that confiscate the property of our farmers and ranchmen.

"The Federal government now participates in our road building, in our vocational education, in our agricultural education, in our maternity education, and in each of these activities there are menacing shadows of administrative authority. Let us call a halt in this progressive movement toward the complete submergence of State and local authority. We cannot draw bounties from Washington which we do not contribute in taxes. We cannot derive power which we do not confer, and we cannot confer a power and keep it at the same time.

"In the exercise of police power, in the control of the electoral franchise, in the collection of taxes, the hand of Washington is laid upon every citizen's privilege and possession. I suggest no reaction, no reversion of the duly recorded will of the people; I hold the eighteenth and nineteenth amendments to the constitution to be as sacred as the original instrument, but the first ten amendments, our great Bill of Rights, are still vital. They are the ten commandments of free government. We must uphold them as inviolate in the republic as the ten commandments given to Moses are inviolate in the Kingdom of God."

AGED MAN DIED SUDDENLY IN A HOTEL

(Associated Press) JEFFERSON, Texas, April 21.—G. A. Kieck, aged 60, of 501 South Third street, McAlester, Ok., was found dead in his room at the New Jefferson hotel here this morning at 8 o'clock. The body, fully dressed was lying across the edge of the bath tub with a cut on the forehead caused by the fall.

MILLION DOLLARS TO CONTROL THE FLOODS

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 21.—The sum of one million dollars was made available by the Federal government today for control of flood waters of the Mississippi river, now at the highest stage in years.

ROAD BOARD MAY RESUME ACTIVITY

Supreme Court Has Granted a Rehearing in the Case from Limestone County

It was said yesterday that the dissolution of the Permanent Road Board of Lamar county and of Hunt and other counties under the decision in the Limestone county case may be reconsidered and the road boards may resume the exercise of the powers and duties which they have heretofore assumed under a special act of the legislature creating the office and prescribing the manner of holding the election.

As heretofore stated it was held that the legislature is without authority to create offices under a special act and that such act is unconstitutional. The act creating the road board of Limestone county was held unconstitutional on this ground and it applied to a number of other counties, including Lamar, where road boards had been similarly created. The decision in the Limestone county case was rendered by a commission of appeals that was created to relieve the congestion of business in the supreme court, and it was adopted by the supreme court as its own opinion. A motion for a rehearing of the Limestone case in the supreme court has since been granted.

The rehearing was granted several days ago, but it was overlooked by County Judge W. L. Hutchison, ex-officio chairman of the Lamar county board, and others. Judge Hutchison didn't hear of it until yesterday.

He said that if a rehearing has been granted and the supreme court reverses its decision the road board of Lamar county will resume functioning like it has always been doing since its creation.

It met last Saturday and dissolved, but if the supreme court holds the creation of the boards legal the act of dissolution will be null and void and no steps will be necessary to bring it back into existence or to elect new members.

POLE BROKE AND LINEMAN FELL

E. B. Roach Carried to the Infirmary Suffering from Internal Injuries

E. B. Roach, an employee of the Southwestern Telephone company, who lives on South Twenty-fifth street, met with a serious accident Thursday, while he was at work on a telephone pole at the corner of Fourteenth and Shiloh streets. He was about twenty feet up from the ground and was strapped to the pole with his safety belt.

Leaning out to catch hold of wires caused the pole to snap and fall to the ground with him. Three other poles were dragged down by the wires at the same time.

No bones were broken, but Roach was internally hurt and received bruises about the arm and shoulder on the side on which he fell.

He was carried to St. Joseph's infirmary. He may have to undergo an operation, but the doctors have not fully decided yet. It was stated that he rested well all day yesterday.

THE HOME SHOULD COME BEFORE POLITICS

(Associated Press) NEW YORK, April 21.—Lord and Lady Astor went to the theater tonight for their first amusement since their arrival from England Wednesday. Tomorrow they depart for Baltimore where Lady Astor, first woman member of parliament, is to address the Pan-American conference of women.

In an interview Lady Astor made clear her opinion that home should come first with a woman and then politics, which she believed all of her sex should enter, at least to the extent of voting intelligently. She said she considered teaching children the most important thing in the world.

MISS BLANTON BELIEVES KU KLUX KLAN WILL DIE

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, April 21.—"There is no place in this country for a visible and an invisible government," Miss Annie Webb Blanton, State superintendent of schools and candidate for the unexpired term in congress from the Thirteenth district, declared here in a campaign address.

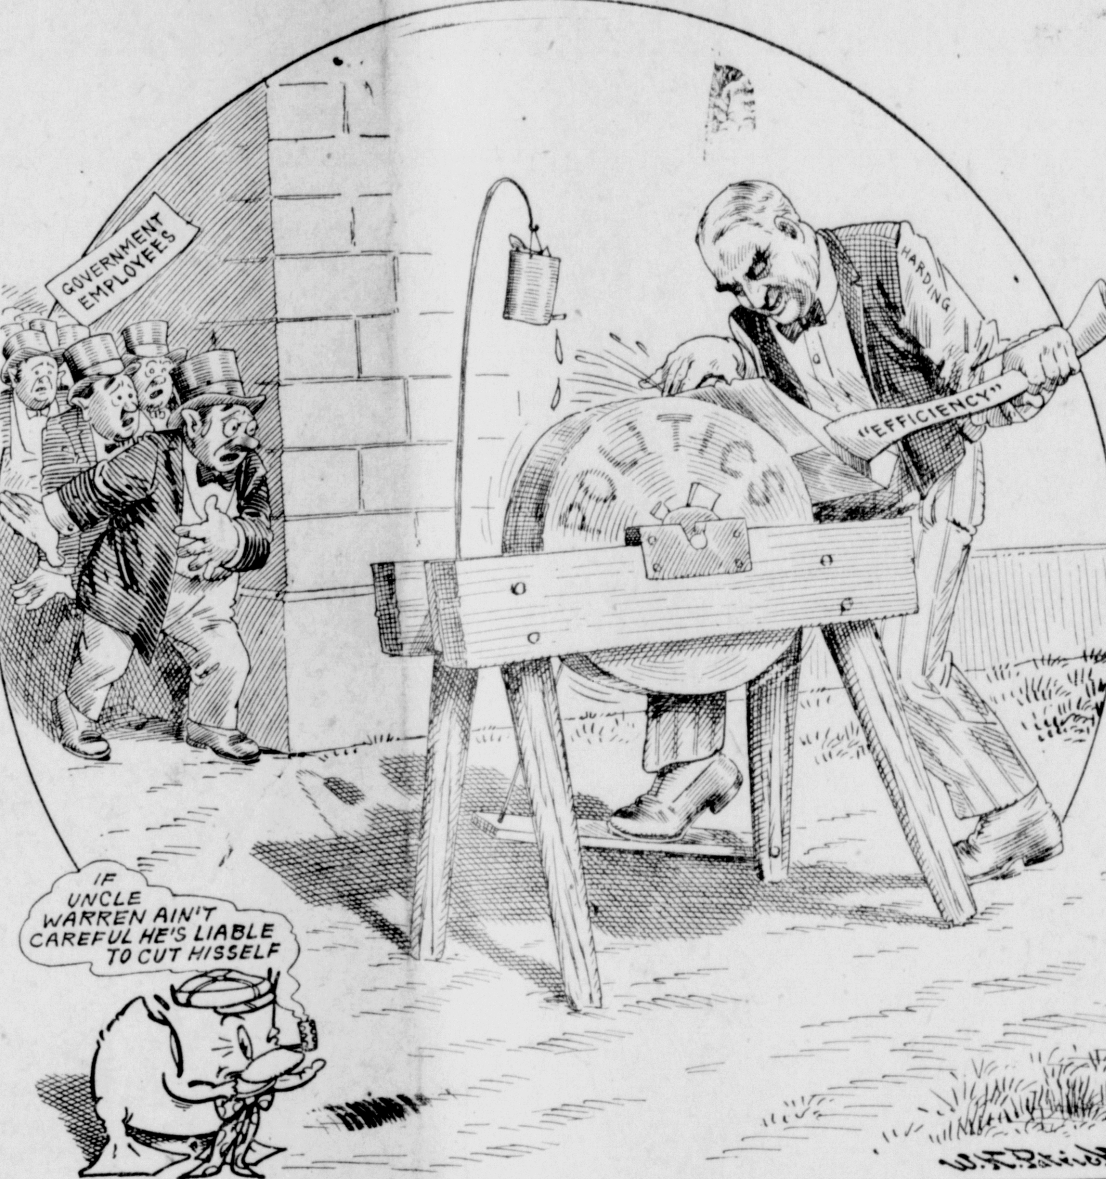

"I believe the Ku Klux Klan of today will meet the same end as the Klan of old. It will not want to be responsible for some of the things done in its name, and for that reason will die out."

TWO INDICTMENTS KIDNAPING CASE

Charges Follow the Seizing of L. L. Douglas, Driller in the Ranger Field

RANGER, Tex., April 21.—L. D. Simmons and R. S. Kennedy, residents of the Pleasant Grove community, eight miles south of here, have been indicted by the grand jury in connection with the alleged kidnaping several months ago of L. L. Douglas, driller of that place, it became known here with the making public of some of the indictments returned Saturday.

Douglas said he was seized near his home by several men in an automobile and carried some distance before he was released and told to leave the community. He refused to comply with the orders, however, and several weeks ago was attacked by a number of armed men near the derrick on the lease where he is employed.

A gun battle followed, in which several shots were exchanged before the attacking party withdrew.

Douglas said the men were lying in wait for him near the derrick when he was warned by a friend. The two men secured guns and started walking toward the derrick. Both sides opened fire almost simultaneously, he said. A third man, who was surprised at the derrick by the attackers and tied there, broke his bonds during the firing and left for parts unknown, it is said.

THE WORK OF THE FARM BUREAU POOL

Millions of Pounds of Wool Have Been Handled Successfully This Season

(Associated Press) CHICAGO, April 21.—Twenty-two and a quarter millions of pounds of wool was pooled and co-operatively marketed by 45,000 wool growers in the United States in 1921 at a saving to growers of more than one million dollars, according to figures compiled by C. J. Fawcett, director of the wool marketing department of the American Farm Bureau Federation and made public today.

The output was marketed from concentration warehouses located in New York, Ohio, Michigan, Texas, Illinois, Oregon and North Dakota. In five of the chief cotton producing States, 1,500,000 bales of cotton have been marketed through pools and co-operative marketing organizations, the report said.

TEXAS LABOR DOES NOT INDORSE WINE AND BEER

EL PASO, Texas, April 21.—The wine and beer issue started the first fight of the day's session. A resolution asking that the action of the American Federation of Labor advocating light wine and beer be endorsed was voted down after an hour debate by the Texas Labor Council. The clause that killed it was an additional resolution instructing the officers of the State organization to "co-operate with every agency working for an amendment to the Volstead act" to permit the lighter beverages.

Tchitcherin, Bolshevik Foreign Minister, Now at Genda Conference.

This photograph of Gregory Tchitcherin, Bolshevik foreign minister and head of the Russian soviet delegation to the Genda conference, was made early in February and is the latest one of him to reach this country. His demands and protests during the early sessions threatened to disrupt the conference.

EDUCATORS ARE IN CONFERENCE

Making Effort to Find a Way to Improve the Standards in Texas

(Associated Press) AUSTIN, Texas, April 21.—The first day of the educational conference at the university of Texas was devoted to addresses and speeches summing up the condition of the Texas school system. Approximately 200 educators of Texas are attending the conference which will conclude tomorrow night.

Tomorrow is expected to bring forth definite action in the movement to better Texas' educational system and move the State's standing in the nation several points higher than where it is now rated—thirty-eighth.

A comprehensive review of the educational system was made by today's speakers and a regular program to that end was carried out. It is expected that results of the conference will be carried to the legislature in an effort to accomplish the purpose of the conference.

FAMILY ROW WITH ONE DEAD, TWO DYING

(Associated Press) SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 21.—Harry Justice, 81, is dead and Mrs. George Wilkerson are not expected to live as the result of what the police said was a family quarrel at the Wilkerson home in Ash Grove, 15 miles northeast of here tonight.

The boy was accidentally shot by his mother.

FERGUSON OPENED AT HONEY GROVE

Strong for Farm Labor Union and Advocates Light Wine and Beer on Open Sale

HONEY GROVE, April 21.—James E. Ferguson opened his campaign for the United States senate in this city this afternoon at 2 o'clock, addressing a large crowd at the tabernacle on West Main street. Mr. Ferguson arrived in the city this morning and spent the day mingling with the people. Mr. Ferguson chose Honey Grove as his opening place because of the fact that the people of Windom sent him a petition containing two or three hundred names to open in that city. However, there being no suitable building there to make the address, the date was transferred to this city. A large delegation from Windom attended the speaking. J. H. McGraw introduced the candidate to an audience which was estimated at from 800 to 1000 people, quite a number of ladies being present.

Mr. Ferguson confined his opening speech to his hitherto published platform, and spoke for two hours and a half upon the issues confronting the people. The Federal Reserve Bank system drew the largest portion of his remarks and his remedy for the situation was to take a large portion of the gold reserve now in the United States Treasury and give $500 to every ex-soldier in the country.

He also dwelt at length upon the labor question, endorsing without reservation the unions, and especially the Farm Labor union. Light wines and beer were also endorsed by Mr. Ferguson and his old platform plank, the tenant and rent law is included in his platform for the United States senate. His speech was well received, applause interspersing it frequently.

Mr. Ferguson favored the Soldier Bonus, but his stand on the Ku Klux Klan was conspicuous by his failure to mention it.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY ON KLAN

Judge Calls Attention to the Failure to Say if Officers are Members

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 21.—All organizations which take the law into their own hands were scored here in the written final report made by the special grand jury of the Seventy-eighth district court, which was called three weeks ago by Judge E. W. Napier, who charged the jury at that time to investigate the activities of the Ku Klux Klan in this county.

In their final report, the grand jury made no special references to the Klan membership in the county, devoting a part of its report, however, to the necessity of "obeying the written law and commending Judge Napier and all other judges who have condemned the Ku Klux Klan as a dangerous organization."

After hearing the report, Judge Napier told the grand jury that they had overlooked his charge regarding the Klan as to whether the county had officers who belonged. He told them that they were excused for the present, but might be expected to be recalled at any time.

In the report the grand jury said they had been unable to return any indictments for violation of the liquor laws, because the buyers did not give the needed testimony to bring about the conviction.

They recommended that parents be more careful about allowing boys and girls to associate together, declaring that "the automobile parties were responsible in a great measure for immorality among the young people."

ONE KILLED AND MANY HURT IN AN EXPLOSION

(Associated Press) DOWNEY, Cal., April 21.—One man killed and 30 injured, three seriously, was the toll tonight of two explosions at an oil station here early in the day. Seventeen hundred gallons of gasoline blew up after the fire started, either from crossed electric wires or from a blow torch which was being used by a workman near the building.

NEW YORK BANDITS SECURED MUCH OPIUM

(Associated Press) NEW YORK, April 21.—Masked men late today held up a wholesale druggist's truck and took from it an opium shipment valued at $10,000, placed the truck driver in a taxicab, carried him to Long Island City and threw him into the street.

PREFERS A FARM FOR RAISING LARGE FAMILY

(Associated Press) OMAHA, Neb., April 21.—Mrs. Frank Golda, 35, of near LaPlatte, Neb., is the mother of twelve and four pairs of twins, all born since 1909. The latest addition to her family came this morning with the arrival of twin girls.

The father, 36, at work here temporarily, said he lived on a farm because it was easier to rear a family in the country.

"Up in the city," he said, "people quarrel and fight and get divorced. Then what happens to the children?"

PASS IT UP TO UNITED STATES FURNISH FUNDS

Russia Indicates She Will Be Good if the Allies Will Furnish the Money

EUROPE TURNS TO THE AMERICANS

Russo-German Treaty Has Been Eliminated from Consideration by the Conference

(Associated Press) GENOA, April 21.—The economic conference today made a great stride forward. The elimination of the Russo-German treaty from the controversy and soviet Russia's provisional acceptance of the allied conditions concerning foreign debts and confiscated property of foreigners, produced a very definite hope that the greatest congress European statesmen ever held will accomplish something real and tangible for reconstruction of Europe, including Russia.

The demands of the powers, which have been accepted include the waiving by Russia of her counter-claims, based on military intervention, recognition of war debts to the governments with the understanding that they will be considerably scaled down; recognition of debts and financial obligations due to foreign nationals and the right of foreigners to have confiscated property returned to them or to be given proper compensation for it.

The conciliatory nature of the answer of the soviet government contributed to the optimism that the Bolsheviks earnestly seek an arrangement with the powers by which soviet Russia will be permitted to enter into the comity of nations.

The clear and brief demands of the allies, which afford a concrete basis for discussion, are compared here by the observers to the concrete American proposals for naval limitation which was indicated at the outset of the Washington conference and which gave the delegates to the Washington gathering an opportunity to concentrate discussion on something tangible and constructive.

The insistence of the soviet on foreign financial aid as a necessary condition to Russia's salvation serves to turn all eyes toward the United States, for it seems to be recognized that effective succor for Russia is impossible without the participation of American capital.

This is so profound that the allied representatives are hinting that they would like to see Rich and Washburn Child to see the American ambassador to Italy attend the discussions on Russian affairs. The sentiment regarding American financial support was summed up today by former President Motta of Switzerland, who said that without assistance from the United States, it would be very difficult for Europe to win out.

"We do not believe that America will forget the tie binding her to Europe," he declared.

Simultaneously with today's development here prominence was given press dispatches from the United States asserting that public opinion there did not expect any assistance would be given Europe until Europe put her house in order and really got to work, setting the problem of German reparations and reduced her armaments.

Signor Facca, chairman of the conference, tonight officially voiced hope for the success of the conference, which the soviet reply of today is considered to justify. A committee of seven experts will meet the soviet experts tomorrow to inaugurate a practical discussion of the entire situation.

HIGHEST WATER KNOWN IN RIVER

The Mississippi is Making New Records for the Lower Reaches During Flood

(Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—The weather bureau issued today a revised forecast of maximum flood stages in the Mississippi river from Vicksburg to New Orleans, predicting the highest water ever recorded in the lower river. Natchez, Baton Rouge, Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, it was said, could be extended as points of attack of the flood waters. A previous announcement of 53.8 feet for New Orleans was not changed. Stages expected are: Natchez 53.8 feet by May 1; Baton Rouge 44.2; Plaquemine 40.0 and Donaldsonville 35.8 to 36.0.

The weather bureau stated there were at present three flood crests in the Mississippi. The first of these was nearly one and a half feet higher than ever before. The second is making its way between Memphis and Helena and the third is still about Cairo.

Federal, State and parish officials in charge of flood control announced that no serious developments had been noted today, although seepage was prevalent at several points.

THE NONPARTISAN MOVEMENT.

The nonpartisan movement in Texas politics is shortly to hold a meeting in Dallas; and probably there will then be some development.

One of the orators of the nonpartisan movement spoke in Paris not a great while ago; and in the report of his talk it was set forth that he argued with his hearers that if the nonpartisan plan went through they could get "justice."

It developed from his talk that this justice was to be administered by twelve jurors chosen from among the members of the nonpartisan movement and with a judge scared of the political influence of the members thereof.

That is precisely the thing desired—control of everything so that those charged with the administration of justice shall be so scared they will yield ready obedience to the demands of these leaders of the nonpartisan movement.

Special interests are always selfish, it matters not what they may declare their purpose to be. They seek to impose their will upon others to gain their point. When a special interest indorses a candidate for a public place, beware that candidate for he possibly has given a pledge of serving that special interest to which he may attribute his election.

Just now we have more than one effort to control public officials and they are all dangerous. The public has a right to know whether a candidate is under the influence of any of these special interests—then it may act with the lights before it.

If the nonpartisan league is to indorse candidates who are committed to their program then that is a special interest and the voters are warned in advance of the election of what they may expect.

THE RIGHT WORD

THE GENTLEMAN BUCCANEER (Find the error in this article).

"John Silver" has learned his lesson and today offers the readers of "The Right Word" an opportunity to see for themselves the progress he has made. "John" says the following is a sample of the way he might have talked, if he had had the opportunities which the boy of today enjoys. The thirteen errors in yesterday's article are represented by bold-faced words.

"Gentlemen of fortune," returned the steward, "usually repose little trust in each other, and you may rest assured that they are quite right in their attitude." From a purist's point of view I should not have used "quite right," as "right" would have been sufficient. But I must continue. "I have a nature which will brook no interference." (I must never again repeat "I have," as was my wont in the good old days when I sailed the main). "When a mate joins me and has treachery in his heart—I mean one that knows of my reputation—it will not be in the same world with 'John Silver.' There were some that were afraid of Pew, and some that were afraid of Flint; but Flint himself was afraid of me. Afraid he was, and proud. Flint's crew were the roughest afloat; the devil himself would have been afraid to go to sea with them. Most emphatically, I am not a boasting man, and you, yourself, have seen how well I get along with my associates; but when I was quartermaster, 'lamb' was not the word for Flint's old buccaneers. Ah, you may be sure of yourself in John Silver's ship."

"Personally, I never meant you any harm."

"Within an hour, you will laugh no longer, but be crying for mercy. They that die will be fortunate indeed."

"We bargained, he and I, and here we are—"

Is the following sentence correct: "Whom do you think I am?"

Yesterday's Error.

"Who do you understand to be elected?"

Whom do you understand to be elected?—Whom is the subject of the infinitive, to be elected; as, You do understand whom to be elected."

Little Stories for Bedtime

Nanny Meadow Mouse Has Callers

"My love must be a hero bold. With heart both stout and true, And by his might must prove his right."

For my regard to sue." Little Miss Nanny Meadow Mouse wasn't in love—yet. But she was quite ready to fall in love if only a real hero would come along and make love to her and just prove to her that he really was a hero. She never said so aloud, but right down in her heart she felt sure that there never had been a prettier Meadow Mouse on the Green Meadows than her small, gray-coated self. She spent a great deal of time brushing her hair and washing her face and a single hair was out of place on her fur coat. And as she brushed and combed out her coat, she would repeat over and over that little verse. Somehow she felt sure that sooner or later her hero would appear. She wondered how she would know him and what he would look like. When she curled herself up for a nap she dreamed about him.

Now, little Miss Nanny lived all alone and she couldn't spend all her time making herself look beautiful and dreaming. Oh, dear, no! She had to eat, just as everybody does, and, what is more, she had to get her own food. In fact, she had to spend so much time hunting for enough to keep her stomach full that she didn't have half as much time for dreaming as she wished for. And always when she was off hunting for seeds or a fat cricket or a harmless grasshopper, she was afraid that her hero might come along and she would miss him.

On this particular morning she had a feeling that something was going to happen. She didn't know what it was going to be, only she just felt that something was going to happen. She didn't eat as much breakfast as usual, but hurried home and at once began to wash and brush and make herself look as fine as possible. Right in the midst of it she heard footsteps coming along her private little path. She peeped out through the grass that overhung her doorway and there she saw a very fat, very important-looking meadow mouse, and he was coming straight toward her doorway as if he felt very sure of himself and of things in general.

"He's very handsome, though he does look a little old and a little gray," murmured little Miss Nanny. "He's very handsome," murmured little Miss Nanny, and her timid heart fluttered more than over with excitement. She never had had a caller before, and now here were two callers at the same time. She wondered what she would say to them and if they would be pleasant to each other. And then all of a sudden she had a foolish feeling that she wanted to run away. She had almost made up her mind to do so when she heard the sharp, angry voice of the fat, important-looking visitor. He had just discovered Danny Meadow Mouse and he was telling him to clear out, that he had no business there. Little Miss Nanny decided not to run away just yet. She wanted to see what would happen next.

Her heart fluttered with excitement, and she did wish that there was a little pool of water handy so that she could look at herself in it and be sure that she was looking her very best. The fat, important, self-satisfied meadow mouse had almost reached her doorstep, and Nanny was feeling very shy and timid and was wondering what she would say to him, when her quick little ears caught the sound of footsteps approaching from the other direction. Once more peeping out through the sheltering grass, she saw another caller approaching. He was younger and slimmer and prettier looking than the first, and he seemed very uncertain and bashful. He would come a few steps and then hesitate, as if he was almost of a mind to go back. Then he would come on a few steps more. It was Danny Meadow Mouse.

"He's very handsome, though he does look a little old and a little gray," murmured little Miss Nanny. "He's very handsome," murmured little Miss Nanny, and her timid heart fluttered more than over with excitement. She never had had a caller before, and now here were two callers at the same time. ## Why a Good Housewife Takes Ice in Early Spring

SHE knows it saves her money by saving food. Ice costs a mere trifle at this season of the year. Food is expensive.

She knows that variable temperature is bad for perishable food; that when the thermometer rises above 50°, milk rapidly gets stale and bacteria multiply a thousandfold.

Even if the food does not spoil, it loses its crisp, fresh flavor and most of its nutritive value.

In this changeable weather ice is a necessity—and a cheap one.

Oklahoman Praises Black-Draught, Having Used It "Can Safely Say For 50 Years."

Grandfield, Okla.—One of the best known farmers of Tillman county, Mr. G. W. Tisdale, who owns and manages a wagon yard here, says: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught—I believe I can safely say for fifty years."

"I was born and reared in Texas, Freestone county, sixty-four years ago. I have been married forty-four years. My father used Black-Draught before I was married, and gave it to us."

"For forty-four years of my married life has had a place on our medicine shelf, and is the only laxative, or liver medicine, we use. We use it for torpid liver, scurvy, stomach, headache, indigestion. I don't think we could get along without it, knowing what it has done for us, and the money it has saved. It is just as good and reliable today as it was when we began its use. My boys use it and they are satisfied it's the best liver medicine they have ever used."

Theodor's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way.

So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Theodor's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable and well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach ailments.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The great benefit derived from the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been gratefully acknowledged by many. Mrs. Benjamin F. Blakeney, Decatur, Ill., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is by far the best medicine for colds and coughs we have ever used in our family for croup and have taken it myself."

He Profits Most Who Serves Best.

PARIS ROTARY CLUB. Affiliated with the International Rotary Clubs.

The program was in charge of Steinheimer and his crew; and they put on a most excellent bill. It had variety and there was a lot of information and useful knowledge as well as entertainment contained therein.

Dr. Thielen gave a talk on anesthesia which was most informative and interesting. He asserted that it was the work of American dentists and chemists who developed the anesthetics to their present state of perfection, beginning with the old "laughing gas," coming to sulphuric ether, chloroform, cocaine, and procaine. Cocaine he declared to be a poison which is very dangerous.

Procaine was originally a German preparation. When the war came and the formula was seized it was found to be fraudulent and needed perfecting in order to obtain the results. A former Parisian, Dr. James Bailey, now of the university of Texas, perfected the formula; and it was then developed that while the Germans had charged $720 a pound for it it could be made for $30 a pound.

Dr. Bailey had also succeeded in producing synthetically adrenalin, an anesthetic derived from a ductless gland found in humans as well as sheep and cattle; and this was a great forward step.

Ben Billingsley evidenced his histrionic ability in a dialogue with Steinheimer in which they exemplified the view of Rotary sometimes held by an outsider; and the answers to their objections.

Dr. Fred Hagin, a resident of the Orient for 21 years and now living in Tokio, brought a brief message from Japan. He said that Japan was wanting Asia for the Asiatics; that they spoke the language and knew the customs of the Far East; and he advised that the United States keep hands off of the mess.

The Visitors.

Visiting Rotarian, Tom Piers, St. Louis, writing paper.

With Maury Robinson, G. K. Lyon, Shreveport, traveling salesman; Fred E. Hagin, Los Angeles, minister.

With Henry Breneman, Chris Ming, Chicago, home talent producer.

With Walter Wortham, G. W. Greenwood, Mexico City, electrical engineer.

Attendance

Due to several cases of illness and several more absences from the city the attendance was only 73.48, the smallest in some months.

The Prizes.

Mike Brown gave a near-ol painting of the Santa Fe arriving on time and Harold Hennessy drew it, much to his satisfaction. He said it marked an historical event.

Charley Broad gave a prize that was carefully wrapped and Rufus Scott was the victim. It developed into a pencil sharpener. Rufus

How Is Your Complexion?

A woman should grow more beautiful as she grows older and she will with due regard to baths, diet and exercise, and by keeping her liver and bowels in good working order. If you are haggard and yellow, your eyes losing their lustre and whites becoming yellowish, your flesh flabby, it may be due to indigestion or to a sluggish liver. Chamberlain's Tablets correct these disorders.

Intimate Intimations

The Paris Rotary club is losing one of the valuable members.

Walter Whiskey goes to Colorado, Mitchell county, where his father owns a newspaper and was glad to get it. He started to sharpen a pencil recently and got called down on it. A walking delegate saw him doing it and told him to lay off; that was carpenter work and he didn't have a card in that union.

Dr. Fitzpatrick bestowed a prize on Sandy Neville, who said he was pleased; but later the said prize began to rattle in the midst of a serious address and it appeared either to be a radio or an alarm clock.

The Next Meeting.

Frank Gibson has the next meeting in charge. The son of the daughter of every Rotarian is to be invited as the guest of his or her father. The list is restricted to one guest for each because of a lack of room. Prof. Wooten is supposed to give permission for those attending school to be given time to attend.

A special program will be put on to acquaint the boys and the girls with Rotary.

Music and Menu.

Sam Reed and his orchestra furnished the music and it was, as upon all such occasions, very good and drew high compliment from the members of the Rotary club, who are most appreciative of the excellence of the efforts of the musicians.

Mrs. Benton Fisher favored with hopes to own an oil field. Whether he wants Walter for the newspaper end of the game or for the oil end of it has not developed. But that makes little difference—he'll make good in either department.

Whiskey was educated at A. and M. college in the architectural department. He came to Paris directly after the big fire in 1916 as building inspector and many of the houses, both business and residence, were passed upon by him before they were finally erected.

Then he went to Collins & Moore as manager of the electrical department and he has made good there in every detail of the business.

While at college he was one of the star pitchers; and his picture adorns the athletic quarters of A. and M. as one of the really good ones.

As a member of the Rotary club he has kept very quiet. Never makes a speech—though he can, should occasion require.

NET GAIN IN THE
PRICE OF WHEAT

Liverpool Was Higher on More Hopeful View of the Genoa Conference

CHICAGO, April 21.—Active general buying based more on higher quotations at Liverpool and hopeful reports from the Genoa economic conference led to a big upturn today in wheat prices here. Reactions, however, followed.

The close was unsettled at 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ cents net gain, with May 1.44 1/4¢ to 1.45 1/4¢ and July 1.27 1/4¢ to 1.28 1/4¢. Corn finished 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ off to a like advance, oats unchanged to 1/4¢ higher, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 12 cents.

Wheat for May delivery showed by far the greatest strength, opinion apparently becoming more general that the principal holders of May contracts would prefer equal to taking in and paying for wheat regardless of prospective enlarged shipments to Chicago from other nearby centers. In this connection, it was pointed out that bulls were being helped by the 35 cent duty being away from European wheat. There was gossip also that the wheat surplus in Argentina totaled at present less than 35,000,000 bushels, or which 25,000,000 bushels was already sold. Furthermore, a bullish domestic crop summary attracted some notice.

First Methodist Sunday School.
Tomorrow is the fourth Sunday of the contest. Only one more Sunday after tomorrow. The "Beginners" are leading by a very small margin. The "Adults" are second. But the race is won "twixt the flag and the wire."
Every officer and teacher of the Sunday school and any others who are interested in Sunday school work are cordially invited to the Sunday school institute, which is to be held at Roxton Friday, 28th. Dinner on the ground. A day of inspiration. Go.

The attendance is gradually increasing. Last Sunday we had 1025. Will you be one of the 1100 tomorrow? We do our best to make it thoroughly worth your time to attend our Sunday school. High school 9:30 a. m.

Lamar Avenue Church of Christ.
Sunday morning the house was taxed to full capacity to hear the sermon on "Monumental Institutions." The speaker said that God had three kinds of commandments—moral, positive and monumental—to test man's loyalty and to enthrone himself in the hearts of the worshippers.

The moral are right in themselves, they are not subject to repeal, suspension or abrogation. They are commanded because they are right. Like God their author they are unchangeable. Positive commandments are right—not inherently—but right because of the Commander. The positive commands have no nationality, no philosophy and may be repealed or abrogated at the will of their author.

Monumental institutions are inherently right like the moral, yet, they have both the authority of their author and philosophy. Their design is to perpetuate some important event, and to enthrone in the hearts of the people the author of the event. These monuments are God's called and sent preachers.

In observing the institution one should keep in mind the author, the design, the institution itself the manner of observing it and the people to whom it is given. The Sabbath was a monument given to ancient Israel to enthrone in their hearts that God had delivered them from Egyptian bondage. Deut. 5:15.

The Jewish passover was another national monument given to ancient Israel. Its design was to keep in memory that awful night when the first born of Egypt was destroyed and their own saved. The Jews had many of these sacred monuments, and as long as they observed them they were blessed of Jehovah.

In the New Testament under Christ, there are only three monuments to be observed by the church. The first day of the week also called the Lord's Day. The Communion, sometimes called the Lord's Supper, and baptism. Each of these testifies to the fundamental facts of the Gospel.

In I Cor. 15:1-4 the apostle says that the Gospel which he preached is based on the death, burial and resurrection of Christ. These facts had been promised, prophesied and preached.

Now to complete the divine plan. A monument to each of them is erected. The bread and the cup tell of His death for our sins. The first day of the week, or the Lord's Day, tells of His resurrection, and baptism tells of His burial.

Every Christian obeys from the heart this divine form. We are said to die to the love and practice of sin, to be buried with Him by baptism and to rise to walk in newness of life.

In this way we open the months of these called and sent preachers and permit them to speak for themselves.

Tea and Bazaar This Afternoon.
The ladies of the Episcopal church will hold a tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Culbertson on South Main street. There will be a special musical program for the occasion. The public is cordially invited.

Closing Services of Pastorale.
The closing services of the pastorate of Dr. Wells will be held at 11 a. m. on Sunday, April 23, at the First Baptist church.

CHRIST'S RESURRECTION—AND OURS By Rev. Forest J. Garman

"But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."—I Cor.; 15:20.

The resurrection of Jesus was not an exclusive but an inclusive event. It was the "first fruits," the after fruits to follow in their order (23, 24). Jesus is the representative man of the new creation. As Adam was head of the old, so is He of the new. When God created Adam He created a race; when Adam fell the race fell.

"Therefore, as through one man sin entered into the world, and death through sin; and so death passed unto all men, for that all sinned." Rom. 5:12 R V
The order of the old creation therefore became Adam, sin, death. But as Adam, by his representative headship led the race into sin and death, so Christ, through His death and resurrection, is leading those united to Him through faith to righteousness and life.

Death had no claim upon Jesus, but it did have a claim upon us. As our representative, therefore, He "bare our sins in His own body upon the tree, that we, having died unto sin, might live unto righteousness." The believer is no longer under the old order, Adam, sin, death, but under the new, Christ, righteousness, life.

1. The Resurrection of Jesus is the Precursor of Ours.

Our resurrection rests upon the fact of Jesus' resurrection. If he arose, we will arise; if he did not arise, we will not. Believers get great joy and comfort out of the fact of Christ's resurrection, and dare not let the blessed truth get out of their consciousness. Recently a supposedly orthodox preacher said, "The body of our Saviour may yet be found. It is not clearly established as to whether the Jews embalmed their dead. If the body of Jesus was embalmed, it may yet be found in that hidden tomb." Paul said, "and if Christ hath not been raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also that are fallen asleep in Christ have perished." In Paul's mind, however, there is no question, for he says, "But now is Christ risen from the dead."

Paul says, in verses 3 and 4, that Jesus died and rose again "according to the Scriptures." This is, of course, the Old Testament Scriptures. Then if Jesus did not rise from that grave, we have no authoritative Bible, for both the Old and New Testaments declare that He did arise. Abraham believed in the resurrection, counting that God was able to bring Isaac up, even from the dead. (Gen. 22 and Heb. 11:17-19).

Job (19:25-27) declared, "For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth; and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: whom I shall see, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another; though my reins be consumed within me." Isaiah said, "Thy dead shall live." (26:19).

Note what the Holy Spirit has to say in the 16th Psalm. (9, 19) "my flesh also shall rest in hope." "neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption." A prediction could scarcely be more specific than this. It assures us that though the body of our Lord will go into the grave, it will not see corruption as other bodies; it will be resurrected before corruption sets in.

Jesus Himself repeatedly referred to His death and resurrection. "Behold, we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief priests, and unto the scribes; and they shall condemn Him to death, and they shall deliver Him to the Gentiles; and they shall mock Him, and shall scourge Him, and shall spit upon Him, and shall kill Him; and after three days He shall rise again." (Matt. 26:63-66).

They might build an image of rubber, or clay or of steel but they could not put breath in it, nor a heart to pump life through it; they could not put a mind in it; it could not be made to love—oh, these bodies of ours are wonderful things; but as long as we are here they will be bodies of dishonor, and will be made to suffer. This humiliation hath an end; we shall be fashioned like unto His body of glory.

3. Power. "It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power." Look on the recent battle fields. One Austrian grave has in it 40,000 bodies. Our dailies daily record "shut-ins" and death notices. There we shall know the power of an endless life.

4. Spiritual. "It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body." Blood is the life of the natural body (Lev. 17:11) Some are confused over the statement "that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." Jesus went to the cross flesh and bone and blood; He came forth in the resurrection flesh and bone and spirit. The Bible does not say that flesh and bone cannot inherit the kingdom of God. What is sown a natural body shall be raised a spiritual body. "Spiritual" as Bishop Nicholson says, "not as regards its substance, for it will be matter still, but spiritual as regards its use. This present body could by no means accompany and sustain our spirits under the energy of the eternal life; but that future body will be the easy companion of the Christian soul in his farthest and highest explorations, a companion to the soul as wings are to the bird, as light is to the heat, as fragrance is to the breeze." God giveth it a body as it hath pleased Him.

5. Recognition. "Will we know each other in heaven?" is so frequently asked. I think no argument is needed beyond this "first-fruits." Jesus asked them to examine His body. His features were recognizable; He pointed to His hands, and His feet. The disciples on their way to Emmaus did not recognize Him because "their eyes were holden that they should not know Him." Mary's eyes were filled with tears, but she recognized His voice. Even Moses and Elijah were recognized on the Mount of Transfiguration, though the apostles had never seen them. This may suggest a supernatural recognition, even of those we had never known here.

In conclusion, bear with a word of exhortation. All shall come forth in resurrection, but not all will enter into glory with the Lord. Only those who have received Christ as their Saviour while here will enter into glory with the Lord. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." "Him that cometh unto Me, I will in no wise cast out." If you have not "come," come now.

1. Incorruptible. "It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption." Our bodies here are corruptible. Silver and gold, riches of earth are corruptible. The giant oak of the forest falls and rots and is scattered by the wind. Stone goes into dust, iron to rust.

2. Glorified. "It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory." Our bodies here are not bodies of glory, but of humiliation. I read the words of a scientist some time ago in which he was lamenting the poor construction of the human body. He mentioned some of the weaknesses, as failing eyes, and said that if man invented and placed on the marked a mechanism so poorly constructed as the human body, he would be forced to withdraw it. Yet science has given us nothing to take the place of man. They have tried for years to give us an egg substitute, but even in this they have failed.

They might build an image of rubber, or clay or of steel but they could not put breath in it, nor a heart to pump life through it; they could not put a mind in it; it could not be made to love—oh, these bodies of ours are wonderful things; but as long as we are here they will be bodies of dishonor, and will be made to suffer. Howland Missionary Society.
The Methodist Missionary Society of Howland spent a very profitable afternoon Monday at the home of Mrs. Geo. Stewart. The meeting opened by singing, "My Faith Looks up to Thee." Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. T. O. Hall, after which a short lesson on mission work in Monterey, Mex., was presented by Mesdames Thos. Matthews and N. P. Trout. The principal feature of the afternoon was the report of the delegates who attended the recent session of the North Texas Woman's Missionary Society, which convened in Bonham.

The members are very much interested in the work the church has assigned them, and listened with eager attention to the plans for the work.

The council has undertaken the erection of a dormitory at the State University, and the societies of North Texas alone, have pledged $10,000 to be raised within two years.

Surprise at Central Sunday School.
Tomorrow at Central Presbyterian Sunday school there will be a surprise for everybody present. All church members are especially urged to be present as the surprise is intended for them also.

I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain. If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a trial.

Crawford Added Cooper to the String of His No Run Victories This Season

Paris defeated Cooper for the second time yesterday by playing a tight ball game behind the brilliant pitching of Crawford, who struck out 17 Cooper players. This makes the fourth shutout for Crawford this season, defeating Honey Grove, Mount Pleasant and Cooper twice.

Paris played Mount Pleasant at Mount Pleasant today. Bodie Jones will probably pitch.

The attendance was very slim—not nearly what it should be if the high school boys are to be encouraged to do their best for the upholding of the fame of Paris. They are playing good ball; and in Crawford there is the making of a star for his career in the college world.

The play was good and there was a lot of interest in the match between Williams of Paris and Wilcox of McKinney, the gallery following being large and interested. Mr. Wilcox was born in Scotland and learned the ancient game on the St. Andrews course; that being the home of golf as it is now played.

The members of the Bonham club did everything possible for the pleasure of their guests and gave them such entertainment as was pleasing to most fastidious. The Paris players made these scores:
Williams, 1 1/2; vs Wilcox of McKinney.
Dunagan, 0; vs W. Russell of Bonham.
Anderson, 3; vs Williamson of Honey Grove.
Webster, 1 1/2; vs Wilson of Sherman.
L. Osburn, 0; vs Cross of Greenville.
A. Wise, 3; vs Largent of McKinney.
T. M. Scott, 1; vs Halsell of Bonham.
J. E. Osburn, 3; vs Everhart of Sherman.
Wilbor, 3; vs Neilson of Honey Grove.

Tex McDonald singled in the tenth, stole second, bringing his total of stolen bases for the series to seven and scored when Miller smashed a drive to left center which would have been good for two bases.

DEPORT FAIR IS DRAWING CROWDS

Awards Were Made in the Poultry, of Which There is an Excellent Display
DEPORT, Texas, April 21.—The Deport fair and short course got under way today with many visitors here. The visitors from Paris included members of the Pure Bred Live Stock association, which meets here tomorrow; members of the Adsters and several of the candidates.

Most of the morning was spent in getting the exhibits in place; but by noon this had been accomplished. During the afternoon the tabernacle, where the fair is being held, was well attended and there was much interest. There are many exhibits of poultry and the several varieties are shown to good advantage. It is apparent that the doctrine of standard bred poultry is taking in this section of Lamar and Red River counties. Several members of the Red River Valley Poultry association have exhibits. These are not in competition but are for exhibition purposes only. There are 43 hogs and pigs in the pens now; and it is expected that this number will be increased to above a hundred with the arrivals tomorrow. The stuff being shown is of most excellent quality and there is evidence that attention is being given the matter of pure bred stock.

Miss Hill, the home demonstrator, worked under some difficulties; but she is a most patient somebody and held the close attention of the women who were in attendance. She gave them many hints as to how to exercise economy in the household and at the same time to secure the best results. She secured a 4 year old rooster; and she certainly looked to be a tough old bird. She put him through the pressure canner and tomorrow she will put the meat in cans. The bird was thoroughly cooked in 55 minutes. A. A. Fleming and John Furey were the judges in the poultry department. They gave close attention to the birds and finished late this afternoon. These are the awards made: Rhode Island Reds—First cock, George W. Grant; second cock, Mrs. H. M. Grant; first hen, second hen, first old pen, T. U. House; first cockerel, first pullet, second pullet, first young pen, Raymond Nixon; second young pen, Osie Barnard. White Leghorns—First cock, first hen, second hen, first old pen, Tom Westbrook; second cock, J. W. Legate; first cockerel, first young pen, Frank Tomlinson; second cockerel, Fred Shuman; first and second hen, first pen, Ben Tidson. Buff Leghorns—First cock, first hen, first pen, Mrs. Buck Watson. White Plymouth Rocks—First cock, first hen, first pen, Mrs. Gene Sullivan; first and second pullet, first cockerel, Frank Tomlinson. White Minorcas—First cockerel, first and second pullets, first pen, Raymond Nixon. Black Minorcas—First and second cock, first and second cockerel, first and second hen, first and second pullet, first pen, Ben Craven. Barred Rocks—First cock, first and second pen, first pen, Ben Tidson. Silver Laced Wyandottes—First cock, first and second hen, first pen, Albert Singleton. Cornish Games—First cockerel, first pen, first and second pullet, H. C. Robert; second cockerel, second pen, Jesse Gray.

P. B. L. S. A. IS TO MEET TODAY AT DEPORT FAIR
The Pure Bred Live Stock association is to hold its monthly meeting today at Deport in connection with the Deport fair. Several members of the association were at Deport Friday and they are complimentary to the display made there in swine and poultry. It is not very large, of course; but it is very good.

CONFEDERATE FLAG SALE IS TO BE HELD TODAY
Once every year Mrs. O. L. Means sends out a small army of girls who sell for ten cents, the tiny Confederate flag which enable the U. C. V. to attend the annual reunions—and today is the date this year. If you wish to give more, it is appreciated very much, but at least be sure to have your dime ready, and wear the emblem in honor of the heroes in gray. JOE WUNSCH HAS TAKEN JOB IN REAL EARNEST
Joe Wunsch has taken this matter of selling tickets for the Shrine minstrels just like he takes golf, making clothes and going to church—that is, seriously and with full intent to get somewhere. According to Joe, there will be so many red tickets in circulation by Thursday that the S. R. O. will be hung out against any blue pastebored tickets.

BOTH BOYS WERE ON THEIR PINS

Chesnutt and Williams Went for Ten Rounds of Fighting at Cooper
COOPER, April 21.—"Hoss" Chesnutt, local undefeated champ, and Red Williams, the Demon Milkman of Paris, met tonight in a 10-round bout at the ball park. Chesnutt outpointing Williams in a pretty evenly matched encounter, with plenty of play and action, and a knockdown in the seventh.

A crowd of about 500 was present, and approximately one-fourth of it was composed of ladies, an innovation for Cooper. The ladies will be expected at the bouts in the future since the precedent has been set. Rollie Smith refereed, and the consensus of opinion was that his decisions were clear and fair in every instance. First Round—Chesnutt led with right to back, Williams returned with right and left to face, and left o body. Chesnutt right to neck and body. This round a draw. Second Round—Chesnutt, left and right to jaw, Williams came back with two to the jaw with his left. Chesnutt, right to back, Williams passed, Chesnutt closed with right to back. Chesnutt's round. Third Round—Williams landed left to face and body, Chesnutt with right to neck and face, Williams' round. Fourth Round—Draw. Both exchanged blows to face and body. Action. Fifth Round—Chesnutt led. Struck many times with right to back. Williams returned right and left to face and body. Chesnutt landed right to body, and crowded Williams into the ropes. Chesnutt's round. Sixth Round—About even; many blows exchange. Plenty of pep. Draw. Seventh Round—Busy. Both exchanged face and body hits. Chesnutt played to neck and body, swinging a wicked right to back and neck, while Williams used his left to advantage. Chesnutt swung a right to body, knocking Williams to the floor. Williams came up and landed a left to face, Chesnutt's. Eighth Round—Chesnutt leading. Started with right to neck and body. Williams played right and left to face and body, but the ad. was still Chesnutt's. Ninth Round—Draw. Each played for advantage and few blows were exchanged. Tenth Round—Chesnutt opened with right to face and back. Williams swung with his famous left, in a try for an uppercut. Chesnutt aimed at neck and passed. Williams had the advantage. Both boys were in good trim, and furnished plenty of excitement for the fans, who were in shape for the big bout after a good card of preliminaries. Burns of Paris, who has something of a name of his own as a scrapper, and Woodruff of Commerce have both challenged Chesnutt, but he has not accepted either one as yet. A five-round sparring match between Whittington and Smith was the opening show. Smith had his man outclassed all through, but there was lots to see, and enough action to keep the crowd interested.

A Cooper ink and a country scrapper mixed it for another five goes, and the fun was fast and furious. The man from the tall timbers put it all over the town boy. The next five rounds were staged by Kerbow, 157, an ex-service man, and "Wolf" Lowery, 200, who up to this date, had never been able to get a match. Kerbow agreed to stay in the ring for five goes and lived up to it, though he took a full share of punishment. Kerbow failed to land anything like a damaging blow, but Lowery hit him repeatedly about the face with effect. The battle royal, which opened with five gentlemen of color inside the spared circle, wound up as a family affair. The quint roamed all over the mat, and fought through the ropes and down on the ground, finally leaving two brothers to make the decision. The younger one showed a little natural reluctance at making the issue so personal, but big brother insisted, and finished him up with a K. O.
